

Title:

Cellular icon disappearing on Lenovo L14 and P15

Summary/ Intro:

Most of user get this challenge when working from home and they panic and drive all the way to the office while they can fix this by themselves. When you get this error just know it is a driver not being recognized when starting up the machine. You can resolve this error by taking out your sim card and put it back then restart the machine. Yes, it is simple as it sounds.

Steps:

Step 1: every household has a smartphone which uses a pin to take out sim card, get that pic

Step 2: On the left side of your laptop there is a sim slot, put in the pin and press. The sim slot will come out and push it back inside

Step 3: if your laptop was on then restart it, if it was off then power it on

Conclusion (Optional):

After pressing the sim tray out, avoid taking it all out because you might struggle to put the sim card in a correct way. And when pressing the sim tray, it won't be easy like pressing a button, it is the same as your phone you have to apply a little bit force

Created By:

Credit goes to... Theo